

Kennedy Signs Trade Bill; Gives JFK Great Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed his sweeping trade expansion bill Thursday and proclaimed it the most important international legislation in the economic field since the Marshall Plan helped Europe recover from World War II.

A New Weapon

It is "a vital new weapon" for the cause of freedom, Kennedy told members of his Cabinet and of Congress and others clustered about him in a reception room outside his White House office.

The new law arms the President with unprecedented power to reduce most tariffs, repeal orders and link the United States closely with the booming European Common Market. It was regarded generally as the most far-reaching item passed by Congress this session.

Kennedy forecast "a dynamic new era of growth" as result of Congress's action in giving him just about all he asked in this bill. He said a vital, expanding economy in the Free World is needed to face up to Communist advances.

The six nations in the Common Market are West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Great Britain is negotiating to become a member.

Whizzed Through Congress

The trade bill whizzed through Congress with less opposition than many people expected. It had strong support from Republicans as well as Democrats and from leaders of business and organized labor. Opposition from protecting tariff groups was diluted by provisions of the bill providing aid to industries and workers who would lose business or jobs because of tariff cuts.

The five-year extension of the reciprocal trade act provided for is the longest in the 28-year-old history of the act.

The heart of the bill is contained in two types of authority granted the President:

—He can cut U.S. tariffs by 50 per cent in negotiating new trade pacts.

—He can completely eliminate duties on items for which the United States and the Common Market account for 80 per cent of world trade.

However, this second power would cover few products if Britain does not join the Common Market.

Postal Employees To Get Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed a bill Thursday that raises postage rates for everybody and gives pay increases to 1.6 million federal workers.

The salary increases start with the next pay period and Kennedy called this part of the bill "the most comprehensive and significant salary revision in nearly 40 years."

Asserting the higher pay scales should attract more capable workers, Kennedy urged all department and agency heads to try to turn out the same amount of work with fewer people.

The pay increase, averaging 9.6 per cent for a million white collar workers and 11.2 per cent for 600,000 postal workers, is expected to cost $1.05 billion a year when it becomes fully effective in 1964.

The new postage rates going into effect next Jan. 7 are calculated to yield an additional $600 million a year by 1966.

Most of this, or $439 million, will come from a one-cent increase in first class and air mail stamps.

Meredith Tours Campus; No Bodyguard At His Side

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Negro James H. Meredith strolled through the campus without an escort at his side for the first time Thursday at the University of Mississippi.

A single loud unfavorable remark was heard as groups of students walked closer to Meredith, 29, than his small guard of federal marshals who brought up the rear.

The scene was in sharp contrast to the jeers some 100 students—mostly males—hurled at him as he left the cafeteria Wednesday night.

At noon Thursday, an unidentified white student chatted with him, while Meredith ate lunch in the cafeteria.

Meredith walked the 300 yards to his residence hall after lunch—again for the first time.

While Meredith increased his activities on campus, these meetings were scheduled:

—The Student Judicial Council was to hold a closed session to plan a hearing for six students who face charges stemming from campus riots that killed two.

—The 27-member faculty Senate was expected to consider, probably within the next 48 hours, two resolutions on the demonstrations and college unity. One resolution called for an end to demonstrations, a faculty source said, while the other was weaker.

—In New Orleans, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals was to convene Friday to give Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson Jr. another chance to show they are no longer in contempt.

The court, accepting a Justice Department suggestion, decided Oct. 2 that the two must show further that they are now complying with its orders that forced Meredith's admission Oct. 1.

At Ole Miss, Justice Department attorney Bud Sather said Meredith's frequent appearances were part of an effort to get students used to Meredith's presence.

"We've decided that since Meredith is here," Sather said, "he should be able to move freely about the campus under normal conditions."

A Justice Department attorney always had been at Meredith's side until Thursday.

The Student Judicial Council will give each student a private hearing. Penalties include expulsion, suspension and probation. No names will be disclosed unless a student is expelled.

Only once since 1951 has a disciplinary recommendation of the student group been overruled by the university.

Bethlehem Steel Gets Big Contract

Special to The Daily Record

WASHINGTON — Rep. Francis E. Walter last night announced that the Agency for International Development has awarded a $6,500,000 contract to Bethlehem Steel Co.

The money will be spent to provide railroad and steel accessories for the Pakistan Railroad Co., the Eastern Democrat said, and will give several months' employment to employees at Bethlehem Steel's plants in Bethlehem, Steelton and Lebanon.

"This is a common sense combination of helping our friends abroad while improving the economic situation at home," Walter said.

The finished products will be shipped in wholly-owned American ships to Pakistan, according to Walter. The products will be used to provide additional transportation for the Indus Valley in Pakistan and it is the key to economic progress in West Pakistan, Walter explained.

"This definitely is an aid loan to Pakistan and the money to be spent for the materials to be manufactured by Bethlehem Steel will not go abroad," Walter continued.

Biologists Protest Spraying

LEHIGH Valley biologists yesterday protested plans of the state to spray DDT over a five-mile area in Monroe County to rid the section of gypsy moths.

Joining in the protest were Dr. Francis J. Trembley, professor of ecology at Lehigh University; Dr. Louis Stahleford, head of the biology department at Lafayette College, and Dr. John E. Trainer, professor of biology at Muhlenberg College.

They agreed that research in the field of evolutionary biology is turning up many trouble signs where DDT is used. They explained the chemicals in DDT kill not only gypsy moths but also "nearly all the smaller organisms" in the impact area.

The real danger is in the future, they say, since some evidence suggests the evolutionary path of nature through history could be detoured by too much spraying in fertile fields and woodlands.

Trembley called the spray "absolutely disastrous" and said, "The long range effects are much worse than the bug."

He said the state should have "no right to spray a person's land without first getting permission from landowners."

The area, near the proposed Tocks Island Dam, is largely non-residential and covered by trees. The gypsy moth, a native of Europe, is a voracious eater which can destroy large areas of forest unless checked.

Pope John Calls For Christian Unity At Beginning Of Vatican Council

Bi-racial Case Is Settled

DETROIT (AP) — Three-year-old Donna Potter played in her yard with two friends Thursday, unaware that a judge had just settled her custody in an involved interracial case.

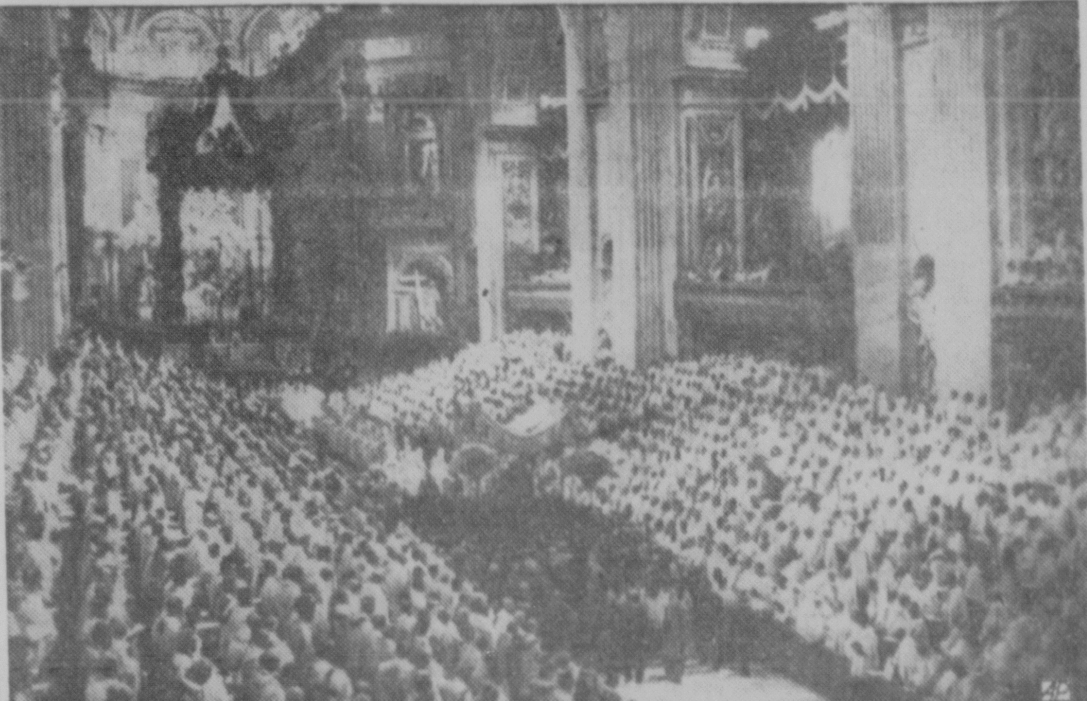

The 13-page ruling by Circuit Judge George A. Bowles held that Donna, whose parents are white, should remain in the custody of her father, Donald Potter, a third-grade teacher in suburban Taylor Township.

Mother Is Loser

Loser in the year-long court battle was the mother, Sandra, who obtained a divorce from Potter last year and nine days later married a Negro physician, Dr. Percy D. Baugh of Riverside, Calif.

Judge Bowles, who called the case one of the most difficult he ever had before him, heard testimony from the parents, relatives, social workers, psychologists and others.

In the background was the question of whether Donna would be better off living with her father, who makes his home now with his former wife's parents or whether she should be raised in a biracial home with a white mother and a Negro stepfather.

POPE ARRIVES FOR COUNCIL MEETING — Portable throne bearing Pope John XXIII is shown in aisle of St. Peter's Basilica as he arrived for opening of the Ecumenical Council at Vatican City. Roman Catholic prelates, guests and observers are on either side of the aisle. The Pontiff walked from the throne to the council altar which is set up in front of the Basilica's main altar.

On Invasion Prisoners

Donovan Returns To Miami To Await Castro's Decision

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lawyer James B. Donovan said Thursday he had returned to Miami to await Prime Minister Fidel Castro's decision on whether he will accept an offer of medicine, drugs, and baby foods for release of the 1,113 Bay of Pigs Cuban invasion prisoners.

"I am always optimistic," the New Yorker said when asked if he thought Castro would liberate the prisoners.

Donovan said his offer consisted solely of "medicine, drugs, medical supplies and infant foods, designed as an offer of the American people to the Cuban people."

"No money is involved," Donovan emphasized.

He said, "Before I entered the picture, the Cuban Families Committee had undertaken certain obligations. My work does not involve any of these or infringe upon them."

Donovan said his intention now was "simply to wait for a final resolution by the Cuban government."

The negotiator said he expected to stay in the Miami area for the next day or so.

Donovan said the families committee had spent the past nine months gathering funds to buy the freedom of Brigade 2506.

He said the committee can accept cash and other gifts under federal tax deductible provisions.

"There are large corporations in this country and a number of wealthy Cubans who have contributed to this campaign," Donovan said.

He added bluntly, "The U.S. government has absolutely no part in these negotiations."

Donovan's attempts to secure freedom of the prisoners bogged down Wednesday night in a four-hour meeting in the presidential palace at Havana.

After the meeting, a spokesman for the families committee said two or three more meetings would be necessary to revise certain points.

Committee officials, optimistic earlier this week, went into seclusion. Enrique Llaoca and E. A. Suarez spent the day away from their homes.

Both said they hoped an announcement by the exile organization Alpha 66 of a raid Monday on the Cuban port of Isabella de Sagua had not caused the snag in negotiations.

Protestant Delegates Get Honored Place

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The greatest assembly of Roman Catholic prelates in history opened Thursday with a call for Christian unity by Pope John XXIII, the white-robed central figure in a stirring display of earthly grandeur and spiritual dedication.

He urged vigorous efforts toward union of mankind in truth.

"Divine Providence is leading us to a new order of human relations... directed toward the fulfillment of God's superior and inscrutable designs," the Pontiff told the church's first ecumenical council in a century.

Immediate Aims

A lavish and majestic spectacle, surging with devotion, marked the outset in St. Peter's Basilica of the council the Pope called with the immediate aims of considering internal reforms and helping the church keep pace with the modern world. Beyond that, in the hopeful hearts of many, it is a prelude to reunification of the Christian faiths.

"Almighty God," the Pope prayed, "In Thee we place all our confidence, not trusting in our own strength."

Massed before him, in dazzling white vestments, were the 2,700 council delegates—overseers and pillars of the church with its future in their hands.

Altogether, about 10,000 churchmen and guests were present in the enormous basilica, brilliantly lighted and decorated in red, white and gold.

Delegate-observers from Protestant and other communions had an honored place at the ceremony. Many of them joined in the old Gregorian chants and knelt and sang with the Catholics for the prayers, confessions and litanies of praise.

Vatican sources expressed pleasure at a Moscow announcement that the Russian Orthodox Church, which has had no formal contact with Roman Catholicism in more than nine centuries, was sending two observers.

Outside, a throng estimated at 150,000 stood close-packed in St. Peter's Square. Fountains sparkled in the sunlight.

Bells Ring

Bells rang out wildly. Uniformed men blew into silvery trumpets. And thousands of priests stood in solemn files, dressed in varied hues, along the Vatican's massive Bernin Colonnades.

It is the 21st council of Roman Catholicism in 20 centuries. It is the first of the modern era.

The Pope said the history of the church hinges on it.

He urged diligent efforts "so that there may be fulfilled the great mystery of that unity, which Jesus Christ invoked with fervent prayer from His Heavenly Father on the eve of His sacrifice."

Clouds of incense spread a mysterious aroma through the cast sanctuary.

High in the towering dome, inlaid with gilt and mosaics, the sun poured through the windows, a shimmering nimbus above the tall, main altar where the Pope sat on his throne.

Bishops, patriarchs, metropolitans, abbots, cardinals and archbishops from around the world sat in facing tiers along the nave. Their peaked white miters and snowy raiment were dazzling against a backdrop of scarlet tapestries.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, 71-year-old dean of the College of Cardinals, celebrated a Mass to the Holy Ghost. In between the supplications and praises came the immemorial bible verses, with their mystery and promise.

Intermittently, the bishops knelt or stood, reverently, uniformly, rhythmically, like some stately devout ballet, to the rustling of embroidered garments.

After the Mass came the traditional services opening an ecumenical council.

Many Are Pessimistic

In his address, the Pope said many people are pessimistic about the modern world, but that, "We feel we must disagree with those prophets of gloom..."

"In the present order of things, Divine Providence is leading us to a new order of human relations which, by men's own efforts and even beyond their very expectations, are directed towards the fulfillment of God's superior and inscrutable designs."

The next meeting of the council is to be held Saturday. It will be a working session called a general congregation.

Mac Gets Approval For Mart

LLANDUDNO, Wales (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government won a free hand from the Conservative party Thursday to take Britain into the European Common Market as soon as possible.

A vast majority of the 4,500 party delegates took this historic decision by a show of hands after listening to passionately pro-European speeches by Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler and Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath.

The annual conference vote seemed to assure, once and for all, Britain's link with her continental neighbors unless President Charles de Gaulle of France decrees otherwise.

Only the French president now looms as a possible obstacle to the path Macmillan has charted. De Gaulle has never been particularly anxious to bring Britain into the group and so far as anyone can tell he has not changed his position.

Macmillan, by the conference action, stamped out almost all the members of revolt inside the Conservative party against his pro-Common Market policy. He is assured now, his lieutenants say, of sufficient strength to get the necessary legislation through Parliament once the terms of Britain's entry have been completed in Brussels.

Adjournment Is Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A vote-weary Congress broke through one roadblock Thursday in its crawl toward adjournment but bumped into another and was forced to put off adjournment at least until Friday.

The deadlock that was pried open was on the $3.4-billion agriculture appropriations bill which had become the stage for a Senate-House prestige battle.

Senate-House conferees reached a compromise—which didn't settle the basic prestige issue—and the measure was quickly passed by the House after which it adjourned until Friday. The Senate quickly approved the bill, also by voice vote.

This left only three major obstacles to ending a session that already has gone on longer than any since 1951.

Two of these are appropriation measures that must be passed before adjournment but no real difficulty is expected in clearing them. One is a $3-billion money bill for assorted public works, mostly in the water-projects field. The other is a supplemental measure to finance miscellaneous government activities at a cost of about $500 million.

The third and final obstacle is an authorization bill for future water projects—sometimes called pork barrel projects—to be financed by appropriations to be voted later.

Dear To The Hearts

Passage of this measure is not essential to assure governmental operations after the 87th Congress adjourns its final regular session. But in this election year these Thursday night the Senate passed this catch-all bill after boosting the total to $550,683,376. As it passed the House, it added up to $404,747,880. The bill now goes back to the House and, unless the increases are accepted, will be referred to a conference committee to iron out the differences.

Stewardship Report:

Chest Funds Aid Mental Health Assn.

MENTAL HEALTH Association, one of the critically needed agencies supported by Community Chest, has cut its budget request from Chest to $600 from $1,200 last year without any diminished service. In fact, the operation thus far is busier than ever with every prospect of further increases.

Reason for reduction in budget is that no office with paid clerical help will be used. However, an answering service has been established to provide speedy service from the volunteers who make up Mental Health.

A major facet of the association's work is a well executed education program. In effect this is aimed at alerting all areas of community life to mental health service with emphasis on an awareness of signs of causes in which some type of help is needed. Varied symptoms are stressed.

A very important facet of education by the group is aimed at getting the community here to recognize, aid and ease the problems of mental health cases to their normal community activities. In ten cases of recent returnees Mental Health has been advised of acceptance in a much more normal manner.

The association reaches into schools with guidance counseling directed at moving those suitable into mental health careers from attendants to psychiatric careers. Four such people were supplied Allentown State Hospital last year.

Great work is done with industrial management in outlining problems which can be spotted early to forestall disruptive mental health disturbances. And, management is fully attentive and responsive to these programs.

The services further deal with juvenile delinquency cases, sex offenders and calls for many, many other types of services from individuals and varied other Chest agencies.

The Mental Health agency works closely with the clergy, doctors and Allentown State Hospital.

It provides Christmas packages and conducts an outstanding booth at the Allentown State Hospital fair for patients, plus cooperating in cases of commitments with contacts and calls to Allentown.

Greatest of all services is the tremendous job of sympathetic listening done for many, many people with problems.

Bloodiest Battle In Three Years

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian and Chinese Communist troops fought their bloodiest battle in three years along the disputed Tibet border with 50 casualties, it was reported Thursday.

Both sides claimed victory in the fighting that broke out Wednesday and appeared continuing in the high Himalayas. Communiqués in New Delhi and Peiping said reinforcements were being rushed to the front.

Both Indians and Chinese claimed they were shooting only in self-defense.

Dems Challenge GOP On Money

HARRISBURG (AP) — Democrats challenged Republicans Thursday to tell the people what heavy contributions to the party fortunes expect in return for their money. Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse made public a letter in which he said Republican leaders wanted "return to the past when Pennsylvania state government was the private instrument of spokesmen for special interests." Morse's letter was addressed to William W. Scranton, GOP candidate for governor. It referred to fund-raising dinners at Bedford Springs and Hershey, and added: "Is this bold, issues-be-damned emphasis on finances to be interpreted that the Republican hierarchy in a desperate effort to head off political oblivion in Pennsylvania is returning to those former days when Republicans brazenly bought election after election?"

Fire Prevention

This is the time of year when a nightly inspection tour of your home may prevent a disastrous fire, reports the Pennsylvania Department of Health's Regional Environmental Safety Representative, Gerald F. Blaum of Region I. Studies of the causes of loss of life in night fires made recently indicate that hundreds of persons lose their lives each year because of inadequate or no planning.

Blaum advises that some one person in the household make an inspection of the home before retiring each night. Check to see that there are no smouldering cigarettes; the fireplace screen is closed; all portable stoves and heaters have been turned off; the furnace is operating properly.

A dress rehearsal for a fire is also advocated by the Division, so that everyone in the home will know what to do if fire should break out in the night. Especially important is that there be two exits to every sleeping room, and that at least one window in each bedroom is unlocked so that a quick exit can be made.

A rope ladder is one item of equipment often overlooked by many which should be available in bedrooms on the second floor. Living quarters should be planned so that there are ready and sufficient means of escape, particularly for persons above the second floor. Fire drill time in every family should be a "must" at regular intervals.

Hundreds of night fire victims fail to escape their peril each year because of panic, terror or bewilderment resulting from a sleep-forged mind. If you have taken the proper planning measures before retiring, your chances of escaping such a tragedy are much better, Mr. Blaum reports.

No Tears For Transit Bill

An end-of-session Congressional log-jam isn't all bad. Among the bills Congress appears all but certain not to act on before it goes home is the Administration's mass transit bill. It would provide $500 million in Federal aid to states and local governments to pay part of the cost of improving both public and private mass transportation in urban areas.

Few people would deny that urban mass transit generally could stand some improvement. And there is little question that as some Federal aid programs go the transit bill represents what one of its supporters has called "a modest proposal."

But it is also clear that the measure offers a prime example of the fuzzy-minded approach to essentially local and regional matters. That view holds that if a problem exists it can somehow be solved by Federal intervention and dollars. And it's a reasonable assumption, based on past performance, that the planned authorization of $500 million for the program's first three years would turn out to be only the beginning of a series of constantly increasing Federal expenditures.

Fortunately, though, the bill's own defects helped to bog it down in this session of Congress. For instance, although it was designed to meet an urban development problem, a population of 2,500 persons was declared to be the standard of eligibility for aid. How a place with 2,500 residents could be considered as "urban" and its transit facilities a proper subject for Federal concern never was satisfactorily explained, possibly because it simply can't be.

If Federal aid for mass transit is indeed a dead issue at this session of Congress, it's pretty certain attempts will be made to revive it at the next. Meantime, it's a good sign that the bill has met such healthy skepticism in both houses. At least some people in the Government don't buy the notion that the Federal aid road is the right one for every problem.

A Noble American

Since he was a boy himself, Jonah Goldstein was interested in children. I met him first more than 50 years ago when he was in charge of the game room of the Educational Alliance. He was not much older than the rest of us, but he was already a leader among men, a clean-cut, noble person, working his way to an education. In time, he became a lawyer and a judge.

But more important, he became President of the Grand Street Boys, an association of those who in their childhood had known the slums and the difficulties and miseries of life and when a degree of affluence came to them, contributed to help others.

Judge Goldstein recently found that some Municipal Colleges in New York require an 85 passing mark to get in. But there are boys and girls who have to divide their time between earning and learning. Many boys I knew in my youth were doing the same thing. I had a couple of jobs as a hat-check boy. Nowadays, they use girls for that, but in my youth, it was done by boys. I worked late into the night and then had to get up early to go to school. I did not get an A.

Today, there are students who drive taxis over week-ends, who run elevators, and do all sorts of jobs. It is hard to get an 85 under those circumstances. Judge Jonah Goldstein realized that much college material was lost because such students, if they had a chance, ought to be able to continue in college. The Grand Street Boys put up $30,000 to help them to equality of opportunity.

Then Jonah Goldstein heard of a curious situation. Orphans inherit Social Security until they are 18. Then it stops. He found two boys, orphans, who were making grades of 96 plus, and a biochemist, the other a physicist. The two boys reached 18 and their Social Security benefits stopped. They are obvious college material, working in valuable fields. The country sorely needs bio-chemists and physicists. It sorely needs scholars with marks of 96 plus.

Judge Goldstein suggested that such orphans receive vocational guidance at 16, so that they do not get stuck in the middle of their college life and so that something can be done for those who are college material. Meanwhile, the Grand Street Boys have undertaken to help those in Greater New York who face situations like the boys with high marks who could not continue.

We are living in a very tough era when economic pressures cause even intellectual workers to reduce themselves to a proletarian and to go on strike. Teachers, whose greatest value is not what they teach but the impact of their personalities upon young people, go on strike. Workers in hospitals leave the sick and dying for picketing and striking at non-profit institutions which always run at a deficit. Welfare workers, who exist only to distribute charity equitably and purposefully, threaten to strike for more pay.

But a little man, 77 years old, retired from all activities of self-benefit, devotes himself to helping children and young people to equality of opportunity. In this hard-bitten, materialistic era, when the slogan seems to be, "Get what you can, you dope!" this little man devotes his late years to public service. Not publicized, he goes his way helping others. To him, the city owes much, but he never presses forward for reward.

Of course, those who put an umbrella over those who have not sense enough to come out of the rain, may get wet themselves.

I once asked Jonah about that. His reply was that at 77, one need not worry about honors, praise or consequences. It does not matter whether a tombstone is a wooden marker or a golden monument, as long as one has lived according to his ideals and principles. True, at 77, one need never worry about the future. It is bound to come soon enough and to take care of itself.

Meanwhile, Jonah Goldstein goes along his own way, helping wherever he can. To his friends, he is "Johnny," and one wonders what will become of the Grand Street Boys when he goes. It is such an amazing organization of all races, creeds, colors, occupations, successes and failures — men who started at the very bottom and, without shame, reached the top of life.

'Don't Drop Anchor, Men... We're Heading Back To Genoa!'

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Reporter's Notebook

Bureaucratic "accuracy" under the Democratic Lawrence Administration (isn't that the administration in power at the moment?) unquestionably hit a high — or low — peak the other day.

It all developed as the time approached to pay out nearly $50 million in school subsidies to fourth class school districts throughout the state... State Auditor General Thomas Z. Minehart got into the act first, announcing the approval (all his department can do) of payment of $49,025,060.71 to 1356 school districts.

A few days later State Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Charles H. Boehm announced distribution of $49,125,702.82 to 1608 fourth class school districts — some $100,642.11 and 12 school districts more than that proffered by the State Auditor General's Department.

It almost seems as though the two departments now but not previously of the same political faith (State Auditor General elective, State Superintendent of Public Instruction appointive) could at least get their fiscal noggins together on such a theoretically non-controversial point — or perhaps it's too much to expect of political bureaucracy after all!

Bureaucratic Disagreement

Stick With The Issues, Son! — And Representative Harry S. Gramlich, veteran Republican lawmaker from Venango County (since 1952) is determined to do just that in his campaign this fall for another two-year term in the State House of Representatives.

Respected lawmaker Gramlich isn't fooling around... Some of his campaign "gimmicks" have filtered through from the hills of Venango County to here on Capitol Hill.

One such Gramlich gimmick is a paper matchbox imprinted (proper and politically appropriate) in red, white and blue with the somewhat questionably immortal words: "Stick With Gramlich" — all of which isn't too bad until you turn over the matchbox... On the back is a piece of masking tape with the simple instructions imprinted above the tape:

"Peel off patch and press against cigarette package" — which firmly holds the Gramlich matchbox against the cigarette pack for use (and reference) as needed... Or, as one wit in Democratic House Majority Floor Leader Stephen McCann's Office phrased it upon seeing the matchbox: "Maybe it should read 'Don't Get Stuck With Gramlich!'"

The Beeding Brood — Automobiles parked in the parking spaces on Capitol Hill these days are loaded with the standard campaign stickers bearing the names "Clark-Dilworth" stuck to our bumpers... Of course as the Democratic candidates for the U. S. Senate seat and the governorship chair — with a Democratic administration sitting solidly atop Capitol Hill — the stickers perhaps aren't surprising.

The other day however, as state payrollers departed the entrance to the Main Capitol Building for lunch, parked right in front of their eyes on the Plaza along with other cars was one with a Republican "Scranton-Vanzandt" sticker on the bumper... Watching for a few minutes, this reporter was amused by the repeated double looks hurled in the direction of the "intruding" sticker, to say nothing of the repeated exclamations of: "Well —!"... A Capitol Policeman stood nearby discreetly looking the other way (after all, the guy wasn't in any violation!)... Who's our was it?... This reporter's — we wanted to see what the reaction would really be.

PS — There was no violence whatsoever, although one young sport did venture up to the bumper pulling off the sticker, but thought better of it and just kicked it instead!

First Of Two Articles

In the Southwest, a 40-mile artificial lake was built by the United States Corps of Engineers in 1944. For the most part, Lake Texoma, situated on the border of Texas and Oklahoma, didn't get the support of the people of the area. In fact highly indignant citizens charged the project designed for flood control and hydro-electric power was a fraud.

Today, however, the once furious opposition are happy with the recreation shangri-la, Lake Texoma laid at their doorsteps and the prosperity it brought to the communities.

Does it remind you of a situation which is developing here in the Pocono Mountains? You are right. The same type proposal is being pressed in the Tocks Island project which proposes flood control, hydroelectric power and recreation.

Like the Tocks Island project, Texoma Lake had its bitter enemies. Former governor of Oklahoma W. H. (Alfalfa) Bill Murray called the dam "the biggest folly ever proposed."

Another Oklahoma governor, Leon C. Phillips labeled the project unconstitutional. Farmers staged mass meetings in protest to the Federal Government's seizure of land. Even after the lake was created people continued to complain. The water would always be m u d d y, they said. (It settled out clear).

The dam was not needed for flood control, they said. It was estimated by the Corps of Engineers that $28,000,000 in flood damage was prevented to date.

Other gripes were that it never would be good for fishing; and loss of taxes. The answers to these critical remarks were that "Texoma was a fisherman's paradise and the counties had received more than $1,230,000 from the Corps of Engineers as their share of lease payments from lake resorts — a sum considerably larger than the taxes they would have collected if there had been no dam.

But it was in recreation that the project gained the hearts of the so-called "natives." Visitors spend close to $17,000.00 in the area annually. More than $30,000.00 in private capital has been invested in resorts and other recreation incidentals surrounding the lake.

Aside this 8,000 boats are permanently berthed in the lake and an equal number is hauled in on weekends from large cities as Dallas and Oklahoma City.

Swimming brings in thousands upon thousands of aquatic fanatics, plus hunters who bag 2,500 geese and 4,000 ducks each season, and fishermen who have nabbed 5,000,000 fish yearly.

Whether Tocks Island turns into another Lake Texoma only time will tell. But the blueprints of 33-mile long Tocks point in this direction.

This article wasn't written to shove an undesirable project down anyone's throats. The main purpose is to show that in another part of our country a similar proposal which met constant opposition (even the governor of Oklahoma declared martial law and threatened to call out

The Allen-Scott Report

U. S. Aid Slashed For Some Foreign Countries

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, Oct. 12 — President Kennedy is suspending and drastically cutting back military aid to three of this country's front-line allies — Greece, Turkey and South Korea.

All three nations have large military forces standing guard on borders lined with Russian troops or those of her Communist satellites.

The President recently made his bombshell decision on the basis of recommendations of the National Security Council, the government's highest policy advisory group.

His ruling freezes an estimated $560 million — $240 million in military aid to South Korea; $230 million to Turkey; and $90 million for Greece.

These reductions are triple the $175 million cut by Congress from the President's overall military aid request of $1.5 billion.

Only military equipment and funds already programmed from previous congressional appropriations but not yet shipped will be sent to these allies, according to the NSC paper now being circulated within the Kennedy Administration.

Economic aid of more than $400 million to be furnished these countries during the coming year will not be affected by the President's decision. Other technical aid programs also will be continued.

In making these drastic cutbacks, the President began putting into effect a radical new military aid program that will have a revolutionary impact on U.S. foreign policy throughout the world.

Prepared by Ambassador Chester Bowles, special foreign policy adviser to Secretary of State Rusk, and Dr. Walt Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, the program calls on the President to use the "withdrawal" or "withholding" of U.S. aid as a policy instrument in negotiations with our allies.

The strange Bowles-Rostow plan provides that either military or economic aid or both should be withheld to induce "friendly" governments to adopt "sound social and economic reforms."

In addition to Greece, Turkey and South Korea, the suspension or reduction of military aid to other countries, including Iran, Formosa, Venezuela and Argentina, is now under serious consideration within the Kennedy Administration.

THE PROBLEMS — In the case of South Korea, the aid crackdown follows a blistering General Accounting Office survey charging widespread misuse, pilferage, and diversion of military supplies shipped there during the past three years.

One GAO report states that "24 percent of the total gasoline supplies for military use in 1961 were diverted to civilian use... The average loss of other types of supplies ranged from $120,000 per month to $35,000 per month."

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, while admitting abuses in the aid program, vigorously argued against any large-scale reductions. These military advisers contended that the proposed cutback would greatly weaken South Korea's military capability to face the growing Communist military menace in North Korea.

The Turkish aid suspension, if it sticks, will force the government to make substantial reductions in the size of its military. Two divisions now on the Turkish-Russian border will have to be demobilized immediately.

THE RESULTS — Already, the possibility of large-scale reductions in U.S. military aid is forcing Iran to take an increasingly "neutral" stand between this country and Russia.

For example: Russia and Iran exchanged notes which included a Persian promise that it would "not grant the right to any foreign state to have rocket bases of any kind" on its territory.

The Soviet Union greeted "with satisfaction this guarantee from a full-fledged member of the Western Central Treaty Organization. Soviet-Iranian relations are now considered at their best since the U.S. signed a bilateral defense pact with Iran in March 1959.

Significantly, this move toward Russia by Iran took place less than a month after Vice President Johnson left Tehran after what the State Department described as a profitable visit.

Johnson also made state visits to Turkey and Greece, the two NATO allies being hit by the new foreign aid policy of the Kennedy Administration.

This change in U.S. policy comes at a time when Soviet Premier Khrushchev is again pushing his proposal to make the Balkan peninsula and Adriatic area an atom-free zone.

At every opportunity, as in its joint communique with Yugoslavia last week, Russia is pushing the plan for an "atom-free" zone along its southwestern borders.

Also, the threat to cut down military aid to Venezuela comes at a time when President Romulo Betancourt faces his gravest internal threat from Castro-supported Communists.

SOCIAL WHIRL — Most anything having to do with horses has an irresistible appeal for Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy. This is again being demonstrated by her acceptance of an invitation to present prizes to the winners of the international jumping competition at the Washington Horse Show later this month. Horsemen will participate, among them the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Ireland, Italy, France, West Germany, and Britain. This annual event is a major social affair for the diplomatic corps, and with the First Lady taking a part in the proceedings, a large turn-out of foreign envoys and their wives is certain... .

Biggest party of the month so far was the farewell for General Lyman Lemnitzer, who is shifting from head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to commander of NATO. Not only did all the top Pentagon brass turn out, several hundred generals and admirals, but most of the diplomatic corps also was on hand. Not present, however, was Abraham Lincoln, the pet parakeet of General Maxwell Taylor, new Joint Chiefs head. The parakeet is quite vocal, but will have to learn the Taylors' new telephone number. He's still ringing out the old one.

Claude (Papa) Jarrin, 80-year-old chief and founder of Washington's food-loving Epicurean Club, had one piece of advice to impart at a party in his honor on the 25th anniversary of the organization. Said Jarrin, "Don't over-eat. And the same goes for drinking, too. Moderation is the key to good health and long life." Apparently Jarrin takes his own advice because, while a chief, he is not overweight and still puts in a full day's work.

Scranton To Visit Monroe On Oct. 19

U. S. REP. William W. Scranton, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will visit the Stroudsburgs next Friday, Oct. 19, it was announced yesterday.

Harold Kresge, Monroe County's state GOP committeeman, said Scranton will arrive here at 11:15 a.m. and tour industries in the area until 12:30 p.m.

At that time, a luncheon, open to the public, will be held in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg, at which the candidate will speak. He is due to leave here at 2:30 p.m. for a meeting in Jim Thorpe.

Udall Will Speak At Demos' Fete

SECRETARY of Interior Stewart Udall will speak at the Monroe County Democratic Dinner Wednesday, Oct. 31, at 6:30 p.m. in the East Stroudsburg Armory.

Udall's appearance was announced last night by Rep. Francis E. Walter, who added to the announcement that Vice President Lyndon Johnson will speak to the Eastern Democrats at a dinner, the same night, in Hotel Easton.

Like Vice President Johnson, Sec. Udall served in the House of Representatives with Congressman Walter. The Sec. of Interior and Rep. Walter have worked closely in the developing of plans for the proposed National Recreational Area at Tock's Island.

Udall is also the Federal representative on the Delaware River Basin Commission, which was established in September 1961 as a result of legislation introduced on the floor of the House by Rep. Walter.

The 42-year-old Interior secretary was practicing law in Tucson, Ariz., when he was first elected to the House in 1954. He served in the House until Jan. 18, 1961, when he was approved by the Senate to serve as member of President Kennedy's cabinet.

Udall's father, Levi S. Udall, was former Chief Justice of the Arizona Supreme Court.

The Interior Secretary is a graduate of University of Arizona and was a member of the first basketball team to play in the National Invitation Tournament.

Today he continues a deep interest in outdoor sports with his main interest in hiking.

Udall plans to make a complete tour of the Pocono Mountain area during his stay in the area.

Woman Hurt As Own Car Strikes Her

MRS. FRANCES Gleogler, 63, Tobyhanna, was reported in satisfactory condition in Monroe County General Hospital yesterday where she is being treated for a broken left leg suffered Tuesday when her car drifted from its parking place and struck her.

Mrs. Gleogler reportedly lay in the driveway of her home for three and one-half hours during a rainstorm before her plight was discovered by her daughter.

The accident happened about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday after the woman parked her car and went to open a garage door. She was hospitalized Wednesday.

Dr. Jacoby Promoted By 3M Firm

THE promotion of W. R. Jacoby as supervisor, laboratory projects has been announced by the Nuclear Products group of the 3M Company, St. Paul, Minn.

Dr. Jacoby received his B. S. degree from Dickinson College, at Carlisle, Pa., and his masters and doctors degrees from Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J.

Among the products developed by the Nuclear group are "3M" Brand Radiating Microspheres and uranium carbide microspheres. The latter are used in high temperature fuel elements while Radiating Microspheres are used in industrial gauges, radiation detectors, static eliminators and self luminous devices.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jacoby, live at 62 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg.

Pocono Township Vol. Fire Co.

Saturday, October 13 -- 2 to 4 P.M.

Scranton will arrive here from Pike County. He will be accompanied by his wife, Mary; Walter Alessandrini, his campaign manager, and reporters from the two wire services and major newspapers in the state.

Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Kresge's Drug Store, Altieri's Inn and Motel or at any GOP headquarters.

Kresge also announced that the Monroe County headquarters for the Republican Party is situated at 125 Crystal St., East Stroudsburg.

The headquarters will be open to the public from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. from Monday through Thursday; Friday, 11:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.; and Saturday, 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The phone number at the office in East Stroudsburg is 421-1131.

4 Scouters Cited For Achievements

INDIVIDUAL awards were presented to four area Scouters at the monthly round-table meeting of Boy Scout leaders of Monroe County in the Boy Scout room of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg, William T. Vincent, District Scout Executive, made the presentations. The Scouters and the awards they received are:

John G. Stark, assistant district commissioner, Pocono Heights, received the Arrowhead Honor. This award is given to a commissioner for having performed several specified projects related to his position as well as other special assignments carried out during his tenure as a commissioner.

Martin B. Rowen, Scoutmaster, Troop 83, St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg, was presented with "The Scouters Key" given to Unit Leaders who have completed both basic and advanced training in Boy Scouting, three or more years as a Scoutmaster, and several performance requirements related to his position.

Herbert W. Ayers, Jr., Scoutmaster of Troop 300, Arlington Heights Elementary School, PTA, and William N. Sheeley, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 86, Stroudsburg Methodist Church, both of Stroudsburg, received the Scout Award "in recognition of having completed the basic and advanced training in Boy Scouting, three or more years as a Scoutmaster, and several performance requirements related to their positions in Scouting."

Edwin F. Buck, Advancement Chairman of the Pocono District, Boy Scouts of America, gave a presentation to the group on advancement in the Boy Scout Troop. He pointed out the importance of the unit leader receiving the full cooperation of the Troop Committee in setting up and operating the advancement program in the Troop. Literature aids on advancement and general program were distributed to the leaders present.

Stark, was in charge of the meeting. Welcoming remarks were made by Father John Esself of the host church.

Two Pocono High Seniors Commended

TWO seniors at Pocono Mountain Joint High School have been honored for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Each student who is endorsed by his school received a formal letter of commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Lawrence L. Wile, the school's principal, has announced that the commended students are: Harry McCoy and Watson Bullock.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, stated:

"About 28,700 students throughout the country are being awarded Letters of Commendation in recognition of their excellent performance on the qualifying test. Although they did not reach the status of Semifinalists in the current Merit Program, they are so capable that we wish to call attention in this way to their achievement and academic promise."

"The Semifinalists and Commended students together constitute about 2 percent of all high school seniors. This certainly signifies noteworthy accomplishment by all of these bright youngsters."

Interstate 80 Sections Hit Snag

A STATE Highways Dept. official said yesterday it is questionable whether the four sections of Interstate Route 80 from Stroudsburg to Crescent Lake will be completed this year.

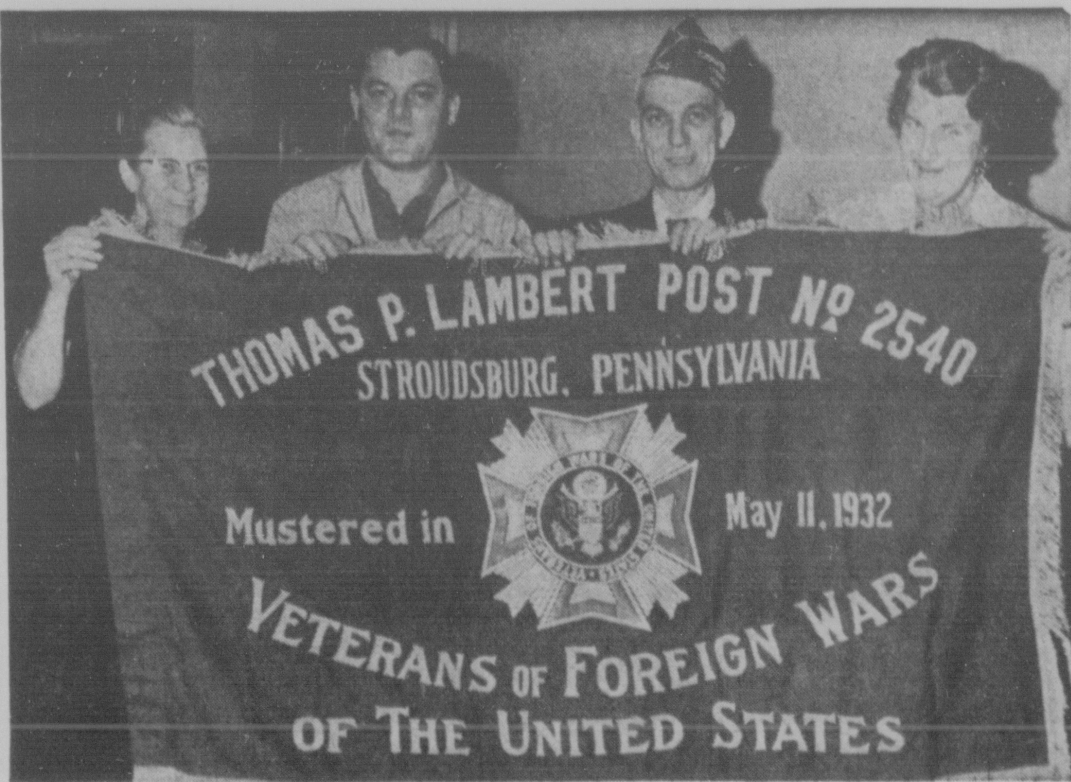

A. Victor Cesare, District Five engineer, said Mar-solino Construction Co. still has some excavating to do in the Bartonsville section and paving on the section of highway which the firm is building must be completed.

Cesare said the next two sections—being built by No. 1 Contracting Co. and Kessler Contracting Co. — are completed and the final section to Crescent Lake, being built by the James Morrissey Construction Co., is practically completed.

Cesare said trouble with excavation was the reason for the delay in the Mar-solino part of the contract.

Five Deeds Filed At Court House

FIVE DEEDS were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County register and recorder:

Blue Mountain Consolidated Water Co., Nazareth, to Amelia and Amelia Scott, Pen Argyl, two properties in Ross and Hamilton Townships, $56,000; Faye A. Williams, Craydon, to Harry F. and Lucy Snow, East Stroudsburg property in Stroud Township; Pocono Lakeshores, Inc., to H. L. and Miriam Ross, Elysburg, two properties in Monroe Lake Shores.

Robert L. and Shirley M. Christman, Stroud Township, to Ray L. and Mildred A. Everitt, same address, property in Stroud Township; Arthur C. and Mary A. Henning, Stroud Township, to Edward P. and Elizabeth A. McGuire, Stroudsburg, three properties in Stroud Township.

Two Pocono High Seniors Commended

TWO seniors at Pocono Mountain Joint High School have been honored for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Each student who is endorsed by his school received a formal letter of commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Lawrence L. Wile, the school's principal, has announced that the commended students are: Harry McCoy and Watson Bullock.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, stated:

"About 28,700 students throughout the country are being awarded Letters of Commendation in recognition of their excellent performance on the qualifying test. Although they did not reach the status of Semifinalists in the current Merit Program, they are so capable that we wish to call attention in this way to their achievement and academic promise."

"The Semifinalists and Commended students together constitute about 2 percent of all high school seniors. This certainly signifies noteworthy accomplishment by all of these bright youngsters."

Mrs. Lucy Riccio Of Stroudsburg

MRS. LUCY Riccio, 68, of 129 First St., Stroudsburg, died yesterday at 2 p.m. in the General Hospital of Monroe County. She had been in failing health the past year and seriously ill the past three months.

She was born in Italy, daughter of the late Nicholas and Loretta Giambattista De Palma, but had lived most of her life in the United States. She had resided in Monroe County the past 43 years. Her prior residence was in Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Riccio was a member of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church.

She is survived by her husband, John, at home; one son, Chief Petty Officer Leonard J. Riccio, USN, Patuxent River, Md.; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Riccio, Delaware Water Gap, and Mrs. Loretta Camarero, at home; nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild; one brother Pasquale DePalma, Foggia, Italy.

One grandson is presently enrolled in the United States Naval Academy.

Mass will be celebrated Monday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Cawley officiating.

Friends and relatives may call at the Lanterman Funeral Home Saturday and Sunday after 7 p.m. Rosary services will be conducted at 8 p.m. Sunday. Interment will be in Gates of Heaven section of Laurelwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Fanseen, Mount Pocono

MRS. Mary L. Fanseen, Woodland Rd., Mount Pocono, died yesterday at 2:15 a.m. in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

She was born in Reading, a daughter of the late Calvin and Ruth Bnawitz.

Mrs. Fanseen had resided in Mount Pocono the past 30 years and was a member of the First Baptist Church, Reading, and the Pocono Garden Club.

She was a former nurse, having graduated from the Protestant Episcopal Hospital, Philadelphia. She served overseas with the U.S. Army Nurses Corps during World War I.

In addition to her husband, Leandro, at home, she is survived by two sisters, Miss Lyle Bnawitz and Miss Catherine Bnawitz, both of Reading.

Private services will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. in the William H. Clark Funeral Home with the Rev. Thomas Cenkner officiating. Interment will be in St. Paul's Reformed Church Cemetery, Swiftwater.

There will be no visitation.

Yetter Cites Record; Shuns Any Debate

REP. Van D. Yetter, Jr., seeking reelection, told the Monroe County Democratic Women's Club at Stroud Community House Wednesday night he is "happy to run for reelection on my record of accomplishments."

Yetter told the group he has sponsored or co-sponsored 46 bills which became law during the six years he has served in the State House of Representatives and said all were of benefit to the people of Monroe County.

Yetter said the only record his opponent, Gerald A. Snyder, has is that "he was elected Republican county chairman. When he got under pressure he quit. He left people down who elected him."

He added:

"The court records show that my opponent is unable to take the criticism and the pressure that goes with seeking and holding public office."

"It is a matter of record that he caused the arrest of his own county chairman and the grand jury found that he had no good reason to cause the arrest."

"How would you like to be arrested and have all that adverse publicity and a cloud of suspicion hang over you until the grand jury could clear you of any wrong doings? I can assure you that I have no intentions of getting into any arguments or debates with that type of person."

Yetter said that while the Republicans have been promising county residents better highways and other things for years, it was the Democrats who were responsible for the Stroudsburg Thruway and numerous other highway and bridge projects in the area.

Bids Urged To Renovate E-Burg School

RAY Hartman, chairman of the building committee, said last night at the meeting of East Stroudsburg Area Joint School Committee, that he feels the board should advertise for bids to renovate the N. Courland School.

He suggested that the bids be advertised at the earliest possible date so that work could be started.

Hartman reported that major work will involve the renovation of the first floor ceiling and the stairway. He also states the possibility of installing acoustical tile for the ceiling and that a further discussion on this will take place at the next meeting of the committee when action on the project is expected to be taken.

In other business, the committee will advertise for a used dump truck to be used by the school for miscellaneous jobs around the schools.

The House Of The Week

Modest Ranch Boasts Extra Elbow Room

By JULES LOH

THE tighter your housing budget, the more acutely you share the problem every home buyer faces: finding a house that gives the greatest amount of usable space for the least amount of money.

For this reason today's House of the Week selection deserves special notice. It is a three-bedroom ranch, literally overflowing with usable space.

Architect Lester Cohen designed the house as J-42 in the series. He limited himself to a plan of less than 1,500 square feet of living area — the size thousands of house hunters restrict themselves to—and set about providing it with the amount of space necessary for a family with two or three children to live in comfortably.

He found the extra elbow room in an unusual and imaginative way: by allowing the space within the four walls, which is the space that costs the money, to flow outside.

The house has four porches and terraces, three of them covered, and each architecturally designed to expand the function of the room it adjoins.

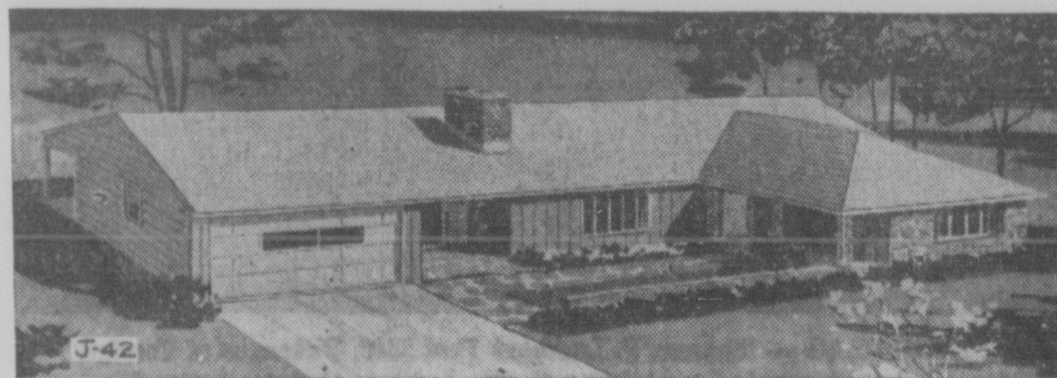

For example, a covered dining porch, nearly as large as the dining room itself and equipped with a built-in barbecue fireplace, extends the function of this room for both formal and informal gatherings.

By the same token, a covered porch stretching more than 30 feet across the rear adjoins the kitchen and greatly expands the informal area of the house. As if that weren't enough, the family room flows outdoors through a glass wall onto a raised rear patio with attractive railings.

Again, a covered front porch expands the function of the entrance foyer—as well as providing still another outside play area for rainy days.

The result is a house of 1,480 square feet of living area doing the work of a much larger home. Its overall dimensions are 77 feet, 2 inches wide by 38 feet, 2 inches deep.

BONUS SPACE RANCH: This three-bedroom model has four porches and terraces, three of them covered, which serve to expand the function of the rooms they adjoin. House contains one and one-half baths, full basement, double garage. Large chimney, which adds interest to roof line, serves both indoor and outdoor fireplaces.

RAIN slowed down trade at the Fire Auxiliary rummage sale last week. However, the ladies were pleased with results and continued the sale to today.

Despite heavy rain and only four tables of guests braving the storm, the PTA card party held in the schoolhouse last week was profitable as donors are sending in their gifts. Mrs. R. Kiser, Mrs. S. Matos and Mrs. A. Reisenwitz were in charge. Prizes went to Mrs. William Widdoss, Mrs. Guyton Kemper, Mrs. R. Baechtold, and Mrs. A. Bishop.

Good Faucet Good Investment
WHEN BUYING faucets for lavatories in bathrooms and powder rooms, and for the kitchen and patio sinks, it pays to buy on the basis of quality, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

As with any mechanism that is used constantly, a fine, precision built faucet is an investment in economy and satisfaction for many years, whereas an inferior product is a constant cause of annoyance and expense.

The best faucets are sold by plumbing contractors.

THE UNITED STATES leads the world in the mass production of handsomely designed and colorful plumbing fixtures.

STRAINER SCREENS on the faucet aerators of your home's plumbing system should be cleaned from time to time.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Over a period of time most of us seem to get conditioned to reacting to a given situation with a specific emotion—sometimes an instinctive one dating back to the dim prehistorical past, sometimes an acquired one.

There was a time when all I needed to do was to open Elsie Dinsmore at a certain page to start crying—the page where she fell off the piano stool in saintly defiance of her father. That was an acquired emotion. But the rising sense of excitement that a windy day brings seems to be an emotion we share with all animal life, and when to the unseen force of the wind you add the visible and somehow frantic flight of falling leaves, you get as restless, as skittish as a kitten and can barely refrain from walking sideways, stiff-legged and with your fur fluffed up.

Of course a brisk cold wet wind can soon turn you from feeling kittenish to a turtle, your head drawn down between our coat collar. But yesterday was perfect... almost balmy.

But not so balmy that casual passersby didn't do a double take to see some native looking Hawaiians in grass skirts and leis blowing across Main Street surrounded by the Pocono flaming foliage.

They were members of the college's modern dance group ready to perform some Hawaiian numbers to set the background for Margaret MacLaren and Mary Hall's Hawaiian travelogue at the Stroud Community Club at the Y when their record player refused to play and they had to skitter over to the Indian Queen to borrow one from the freshman girls.

What a pleasant thing to have the wind blow in.

Coolbaugh PTA Open House Mon.

Tobyhanna — The Coolbaugh Twp. Elementary School Parent Teachers Assn. will hold its opening meeting on Monday night at the school.

There will be open house starting at 7 p.m. with the business meeting scheduled for 8. Samuel Lee, Coolbaugh principal, will speak on important changes made in the school's physical plant during the summer months.

Parents of all children attending the school and anyone else interested in township affairs are invited.

Junior High Fellowship Is Active

The Junior High Methodist Youth Fellowship will attend the district rally to be held at the Sunday, Oct. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in their third meeting of the new year.

A get-acquainted ice cream feast opened the season for the group on Sunday, Sept. 30 when Allyn McElwain was elected president; Donald Freedman, vice president; Cindy Weiss, treasurer; and Pamela Cyphers, secretary.

At the meeting on Oct. 7 the group made posters of their impressions of the film, "Hunger," a film sponsored by the Methodist Commission on Overseas Relief.

Mrs. Knox New Noble Grand Of Sciota Rebekahs

Saylorsburg — Mrs. Kathryn Knox was recently installed as noble grand of the Sciota Rebekah Lodge No. 22. The installation was conducted by Eva Snyder, district deputy president and her staff from the Sciota Lodge.

Other officers included Mildred Schall, past noble grand; Ethel Rinker, recording secretary; Vera Fenner, financial secretary; and Claire Singer, treasurer. Elsie Counterman, a patient in the General Hospital, was not present for her formal installation as vice grand.

Mrs. Knox appointed the following committees: refreshments, Lavina Hoffner, Mildred Schall, Vera Fenner, Lydia Metzgar, Nina Warfield and Florence Post; entertainment, Roberta Kimble, Anna Serfass, Henrietta Hobbs, Eva Snyder, Verna Serfass, Eunice Fenner and Violet Meixsell; flower committee, Clair Singer, Lavina Hoffner and Lydia Metzgar; press, Anna M. DePue-Falcone Wedding Held At Church In Roseto

Bangor—Miss Lucille Ann Falcone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip N. Falcone, of 203 South Eighth St., Bangor, became the bride of James Frederick DePue, son of Richard DePue and the late Mrs. Ruth DePue, of Stewart St., East Bangor, on Oct. 6 at 11 o'clock in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Roseto.

Rev. Eugene Davis performed the ceremony with Mrs. Lucy Ronco as organist and Mrs. Rose Marie Casino as soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of Chantilly lace over satin trimmed with pearls at the neckline, with long sleeves and a tiered chapel train. A flowered headpiece of pearls and brilliants with two cabochon roses in back held her veil of headdress. She carried a flower muff with a white orchid, stephanotis and streamers of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Loretta Angelina, of 106 Webster St., Roseto, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of autumn gold faille with a cape, with a full cabbage rose in the same shade touched with rose as a headpiece. She carried a gold muff with orange chrysanthemums and colored autumn leaves. The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Jane DePue, sister of the bride; Miss Carole Salva, of Matamoras, and Miss Wanda Ott, of Bangor-Pen Argyl, wore similar gowns in autumn gold with cabbage rose headpieces and gold muffs with bronze chrysanthemums and colored autumn leaves. Philip Falcone, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Tom DePue, brother of the bridegroom; James Wertheiser, of Nazareth, Larry Itterly, of Ackermanville.

A reception was held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home before they left for a wedding trip to Florida. The bride is a graduate of Bangor Area Joint High School and the Stroudsburg-Allentown School of Cosmetology. She is employed by the Eagle Manufacturing Co., Bangor.

Her husband was graduated from Pen Argyl High School, served four years in the U. S. Navy and is employed at Speers General Store, Ackermanville.

Cherry Lane Church Plans Homecoming

Cherry Lane — The annual Homecoming of the Cherry Lane Methodist Church will be held on Sunday at 2:30. The speaker will be Rev. Albert F. Buehl, father of the church's pastor, Rev. John Buehl.

There will also be special music with Mrs. Clifford Hunt singing a song she composed especially for this occasion.

After the service, there will be a social hour in the new church basement. Everyone is invited.

Girl Scout Neighborhood Hears Roundup

First-hand reports of the Girl Scout Round-up Activities at Button Bay were brought by four of the local Scouts who had attended to the meeting of the East Stroudsburg Girl Scout Neighborhood with the Stroudsburg Neighborhood as guests.

Miss Susan Baker showed slides on general activities; Miss Gail Smith displayed a chart of the camp layout and schedule; Miss Mary Ann Fish told of taking part in the International Flag Ceremonies; and Miss Elizabeth Stout described her work on the adult staff council.

They all displayed their "swaps" and answered questions from the leaders.

Mrs. Alfred Sumberg, neighborhood chairman, presided at the meeting. Miss Peggy Jean Davis of District 5 announced plans for a leadership training course to be held the next four Wednesday nights, Oct. 17-24, 31 and Nov. 7 from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Two proposals to be voted on at the District meeting to be held Nov. 14 at 7:30 in Scranton were discussed. Delegates will be Mrs. Donald Berger, Mrs. George Carmella, Mrs. J. Paul Hart, Mrs. Clifford Kintner, Mrs. George Stabenow and Mrs. Warren Whittaker.

At the meeting the importance of troop and adult participation in the Community Chest fund campaign was stressed.

Brownie Troop 335 and Intermediate Troop 329 invited the troops of East Stroudsburg to attend their Juliette Low Birthday party to be held Oct. 27 at Mountain Manor from 2 to 4 p.m. with a Nature theme. Reservations should be made by Oct. 20.

Refreshments were served by the East Stroudsburg service teams which includes Mrs. George Stabenow, and Mrs. Charles Baker, troop organizers; Mrs. Clifford Kintner and Mrs. Harry Heller, troop consultants and Mrs. Sumberg.

Let's talk Fashion

From our windows this week we had a front row seat for the parade of fashions as local women appeared in their best Fall finery for opening luncheons, and recognized with pardonable pride many of our own customers who really did us and the costumes they had bought proud.

A dress on a hanger never looks as well as it does on a woman who has selected the proper hat, jewelry, bag and—inevitably, the mink stole. Mink, of course, is a status symbol—but so are cashmere sweaters, Liberty print scarfs, that important pin, and anything in-between.

Which is why we're feeling smug about our leather jackets—the calfskin as supple and soft as fine silk, suede with the depth of velvet. To be sure nobody's wearing leather jackets to luncheons but they are wonderful for those more casual occasions when simple understatement seems somehow luxurious and County in the British sense.

Highlights

"A TOUR OF MONACO With Princess Grace," an hour-long special filmed report on the colorful principality, will be presented Sunday, Feb. 17, 1963, from 8 to 9 on the CBS Television Network. (Pre-empted "The Ed Sullivan Show" on that date only). With Princess Grace as narrator and guide, the program will visit a number of prominent sites in the tiny enclave during Monaco's national fête week which occurs in November. One stop will be the Oceanographic Museum and its scientific center which is engaged in research for the International Atomic Agency, another place of interest will be the Monte Carlo Opera House.

Continuing the long-established tradition of focusing on important annual New York spectacles, WPIX-channel 11 will televise the 12th annual "Columbus Day Parade" up Fifth Avenue from 12:15 to 2:30 today. Jack Murphy, who does such a fine job with the Yankee games, will direct.

The award-winning "Circus from Hamburg" will perform on "International Showtime" from 7:30 to 8:30 this evening. Don Ameche is host, Chs. 3 and 4.

Keenan Wynn makes a guest star appearance as an ex-convict looking for the man he believes responsible for his wife's death in "Incident at Cactus Wells" on Chs. 2 and 10. Jeremy Slate guest stars on "Route 66" from 8:30 to 9:30. Slate, who co-starred in "The Aquanauts," portrays a surfing champ in tonight's story.

A tribute to the blues is among the features of "Sing Along with Mitch" on Chs. 3 and 4 from 8:30 to 9:30. Leslie Uggams sings "Mad About Him, Sad Without Him Blues" and Mitch, on the oboe, play "Mood Indigo."

"77 Sunset Strip" begins its fifth season on ABC-TV with Efrem Zimbalist, Jr. starring in a spy thriller set in Austria. Returning in regular roles in the series are Roger Smith, Edward Byrnes, Louis Quinn, Jacqueline Beer and Robert Logan. In tonight's guest cast Lucy Norton, Chana Eden, Christoper Dark and Jay Novello have featured roles.

Their night-owl foster daughters present American Eddie Walker and Englishman Tommy Finch with a delicate problem of discipline in duplicate on "Fair Exchange" from 9:30 to 10:30. Chs. 2 and 10. Eddie Foy, Jr., stars.

Alexander King, Marguerite Piazza and Peggy Cass will be guest stars on "The Jack Paar Show" from 10 to 11 on Chs. 3 and 4. The raconteur, singer and comedienne have all appeared on Paar's former late-night series.

From 10:30 to 11 on Chs. 2 and 10 "Eyewitness" presents an examination of the major news event of the week with CBS News Correspondent Charles Collingwood and other CBS reporters.

Peter Wyden (author), Melina Mercouri, Lennie Donnegan, The Alberts and Professor Lacey are guests on "The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson." Sid Henderson is music director, Ed McMahon is the announcer, Chs. 3 and 4 from 11:15 to 1 a. m.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, October 12, 1962

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Give day the boost it needs early, and keep the ball rolling. Interruptions could spoil the brew. Smiles, understanding and general good will must take over.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Some plans may have to be changed, so consider revisions as soon as their need becomes obvious. You do not really desire, but we all fall for them and there.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Keep to regulations but maintain a light heart and a twinkle in your eye. Sun offers fine encouragement for your fine intentions. Stay devices, better plans will add zest to your day.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Lunar influences promise a relatively easy day once you get the gist of it and go ahead with a steady tempo — not in bursts or spurts. Take complaints with a grain of salt.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A good day for leaders and salesmen. In transferring properties or making alterations, be accurate; be sure to have all data in work institutions and large groups, be punctual. All control emotions.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Don't get ahead of yourself and bring on a strain. Your innate skill, imagination and memory will support you in the light spot. AND make the easy ones brighter.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Nothing ventured, nothing gained still applies. But "venture" does not mean excesses of some of the outdoors. Adventure which may be suggested now, Libra's good sense, please.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Look up the methods used by successful people, and your own know-how and info. situation. Then add still more study. In this way you can assure the success of your endeavors.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — When you have a close schedule, a deadline to meet, it is especially important to calm down, take a deep breath, survey situations before leaping in. Commerce, business generally, needs vigilance.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — A very fine Saturnian aspect favors a number of good endeavors, including new enterprises you may be planning to launch. Sound out the competition.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Don't wait for a vanishing — go in search of them. In some cases, you will be able to, should, but then from a scratch. Dealings with the public may tax you a bit.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Develop immunity to sharp remarks, lack of appreciation. Most of it is not meant as such, and the cheerier you are, the better your endeavor and results. Watch for leeches.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with terrific enthusiasm, effective power, fine mental processes, foresight, and in some cases that "sixth sense" that lets you when to move and when to stay put. A lover of music and acting, you could excel at either. Those born under this sign are often bouncy of manner, with unique charm, graceful movement. Suited to a position of authority, you are capable of making unbridled decisions, could succeed as statesman, diplomat, author.

Birthdate: George W. Cable, Amer. author.

Stulgaitis Is Calm

Miffed Mentor Forster Leads Club Against S-U

AN ANGERED Dick Forster and an optimistic Jerry Stulgaitis will be matching football wits tonight at Gordon Giffels Field when they lead their winless grid entries against each other starting at 8 p.m.

Forster, coach of the Bangor Slaters, and greatly disappointed by his team's performance last week at Wilson, says: "The boys who are ready to play will play, and those who don't want to play won't."

But Stroud Union High School coach Stulgaitis, despite his team's winless efforts to date, is definitely not planning on taking any drastic action.

Remains Optimistic

In fact, for a coach who is still looking for his first victory

Five Big Contests Look Like Tossups

HARRISBURG (AP) — Eneey, meeney, miney, moe . . . flip a coin and here we go!

Unintown over Charleroi, Farrell over New Castle, Johnston over McKeesport, Central Dauphin over Carlisle, Mount Carmel over Coal Twp.

Ball Fans Wondering Who's Worse

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mickey Mantle's batting mark in the World Series is low but it hasn't affected his sense of humor.

Both Mantle and Willie Mays, the Giants' slugger, have been comparative flops in the classic. Mantle is 2-for-18, with no homers and no runs batted in. Mays is 5-for-21, with no homers and only one RBI.

Before his departure from New York Wednesday night, Mantle told this story on himself:

"Some guy in center field yelled out: 'Hey Mantle, everybody came out to see who was better, you or Mays. Now we're trying to figure out, who's worse.'"

Later, Mantle said, came the same voice:

"Hey Mantle, you win."

Four Matches In A.L. Aux. League

FOUR matches are scheduled for tonight's activity in the American Legion Auxiliary Bowling League.

At 7 p.m., Four Sips vs. The Chums on alleys 1 and 2, and Tail Ends vs. Pot-O-Gold on alleys 3 and 4.

Starting at 9 p.m., Sparks vs. Flintstones on alleys 1 and 2, and The Orphans vs. Top Cats on alleys 3 and 4.

Old Pro Ford Faces Pierce

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Whitey Ford, the New York Yankees old pro, will try to wrap up the World Series in Friday's rain-threatened sixth game. Billy Pierce, never beaten at Candlestick Park, will pitch for the San Francisco Giants, who once again are poised on the brink of disaster.

Victory in Wednesday's 5-3 game gave the American League champs a 3-2 edge in this best-of-7 series. The odds makers made Ford and the Yanks a 6½-5 favorite in the sixth game and quoted the Yanks as 3½-1 choice to win the Series.

Sellout Crowds
If a seventh game is needed, it will be played Saturday at Candlestick Park. Game time both days is 3 p.m. Sellout crowds of 43,900 will be on hand.

The weatherman said there was a 40 per cent chance of rain Friday, with reports of a storm off the coast that might extend in this area. There were gale warnings which could make things very interesting at Horace Stoneham's tunnel.

When the Giants returned home Wednesday night barely 100 silent greeters turned out at the airport in sharp contrast to the unruly jam of 50,000 that overran the runways when they came home after beating the Los Angeles Dodgers in the playoffs.

Choice Is Ford

Ralph Houk, the Yankee manager, announced his choice of Ford, as expected, at a morning press conference. There never had been any real doubt about it for the carefree 34-year-old lefty had been pitching all year on an every-four-day rotation.

"Win or loss Wednesday I had made up my mind on Ford," said Houk. "I wanted to be sure that somebody didn't turn up sick before I announced it. He went into the fourth day last season."

"Bill Stafford is my probable for the seventh game, if we have to play it. But I'll also have Ralph Terry ready with two days rest. I can even use Terry Friday in relief. He's done it before."

'Can Beat Pierce'

As Pierce, 35-year-old former Chicago White Sox lefty, had faced Ford and the Yankees so many times (won 25, lost 38 against them) Houk was asked if he thought his club's familiarity with Pierce gave them an edge.

"I think we can beat him," he said. "He says he can beat us. So I'll say we can beat him."

Reminded that Pierce had a perfect 12-0 record at Candlestick, Houk said, "they haven't beaten Ford here either."

Ford won the opener here 6-2 and was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fourth game at New York with the score tied at 2-2. The Yanks eventually lost that one 7-3 on Chuck Hiller's grand slammer. Pierce lost to Stafford in the third game at New York Sunday, 3-2, when he was knocked out in the seventh.

No Changes

Houk was sticking with his regular batting order. He had made no changes during the Series.

Alvin Dark had been shuffling his Giant batting order daily, depending on the opposition pitching and also on the way his men have been hitting. In the last two games he benched right fielder Harvey Kuenn and first baseman Orlando Cepeda, both hitters.

Kuenn and Cepeda were back in the lineup against the left-handed pitching of Ford, the same batting order that faced Ford in the opener.

Series Is One Of Tightest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — How close can you get?

Not much closer than the current World Series between the San Francisco Giants and the New York Yankees.

With the Yankees leading 3-2 in games and the sixth contest coming up Friday, a check of the statistics shows one of the tightest battles ever.

The Yankees have scored 17 runs, the Giants 16. The Yankees have 34 hits, the Giants 37. The earned run average of the Yankee pitching staff is 3.07, of the Giants 3.14.

Hitters Fall

The Yankees are batting .214, the Giants .228. Giant pitchers have recorded 33 strikeouts, Yankee hurlers 30. The Giants have given up 15 walks, the Yankees 11.

Almost the only big edge is in the extra base hit department. The Giants have eight doubles to five for the Yankees, and five home runs to two for the Yankees. Each team has one triple.

The games have been equally as tight. After six innings, three have been tied 2-2, one tied 0-0, and the Giants led in the other 1-0.

$1 Million Hockey Deal Is Spurned

TORONTO (AP) — The million-dollar hockey deal is off, officially.

The Toronto Maple Leafs, reigning Stanley Cup champions of the National Hockey League, officially turned down Thursday the $1 million offer from the Chicago Black Hawks for Frank Mahovlich, 24-year-old left-winger with the superstar tag.

The deal, first hatched at a late night party in a downtown Toronto hotel room last Friday when Hawk owner Jim Norris made the offer, got down to earth with a small pop late Thursday.

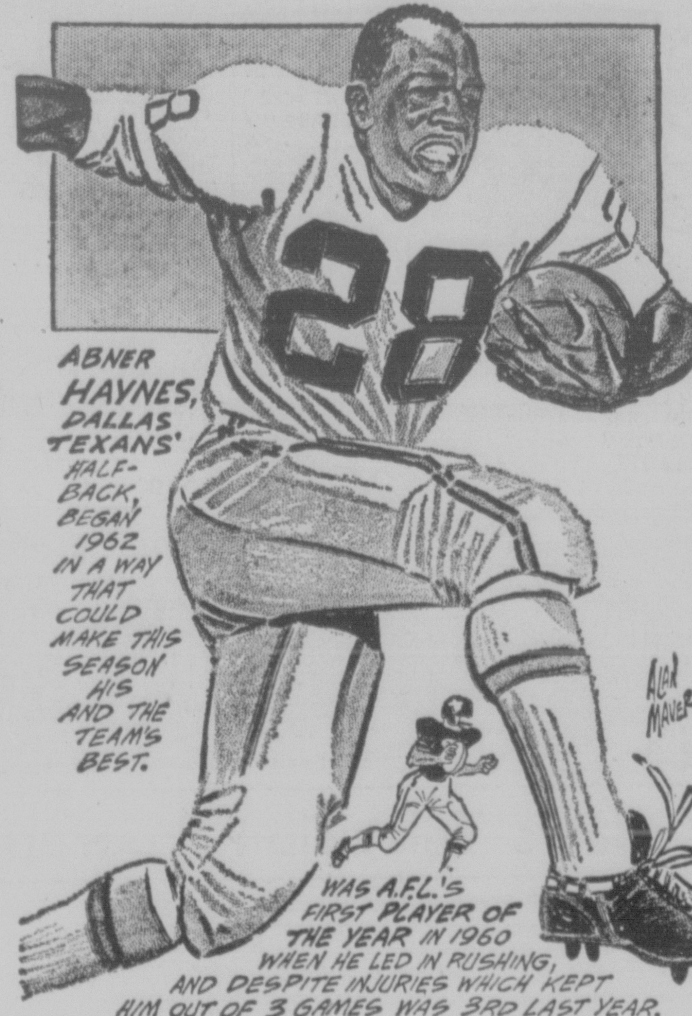

The money men behind Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens — hockey magnate Stafford Smythe, publisher John Bassett and industrialist Harold Ballard — got together and unanimously decided to reject the offer from multi-millionaire Norris.

Mr. Pigskin Predicts:

Sees Wins For Eastburg, Mountaineers, Warriors

By Mr. Pigskin
Daily Record Forecaster
IT'S THE WAY the ball bounces when you have a good week in the crystal-gazing department, a prognosticator once reminded his wild-eyed friends.

Last week the pigskin bounced right 15 times and only took a bad hop twice. This ran the season's mark to 51 right, 15 wrong and four ties.

Any weekend we expect the walls to come tumbling down.

Sports Writer's Life Easy, Huh?

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When a fellow pays four bucks to stand up behind a post at the World Series, he probably is entitled to his opinion.

One such fellow surveyed the jumble of sports writers in the series press box, and snorted: "What a soft way to make a living."

Is it? Most of the sports writers would say it isn't. Most of the sports writers also would offer to strangle the sports editor's grandmother if he tried to keep them off the series assignment.

900 Press Tickets

Nearly 900 World Series press tickets were issued for the New York Yankees home games, and about half that many for the home games of the San Francisco Giants.

There aren't enough seats to go around, so most of these men—no women are allowed—work at improvised benches, in cramped quarters. The regular working quarters are reserved for men from the two cities involved in the series, The Associated Press, and other news services.

Many of the major newspapers in the country also send men to report the games.

Some of the writers concentrate on the main story of the game. They send out a running account on special wires to newspapers, radio and television stations all over the country, and to some 80 nations overseas.

Write Fast

As soon as the game ends, the specialists, such as Jack Hand of The AP, write a complete review of the game. They write as fast as most persons can type.

The rest head for the dressing rooms of the two teams. These are real hot scenes.

In the clubhouse of the winning team there is a lot of pushing and shouting and posing for the photographers. There is just as much pushing in the losing dressing room, but it is often so quiet that questions to the players and managers are almost whispered.

The writers jostle each other to open enough space with their elbows to jot down notes, which often come out reading like "wasn't wickelstandered."

More Stories

The sports writers scramble up the steps to the press box with these notes, then rush off still more stories.

Then the columnists and feature writers take over, and start writing their opinions of how the game was played, or should have been played.

The typewriters still are being clicked, several hours after the last fan has reached home.

Then there is a rush for a plane, and the long flight to the other end of the continent. The hours are long, and sleep is short. But there is only one World Series.

Quarterback On Way To Pass Record

Quarterback George Bork of undefeated Northern Illinois University holds the all-time collegiate passing record for one football game and seems a cinch to break all marks for one season.

The 6-foot, 170-pound junior completed a record 37 passes in 47 attempts against Omaha last Saturday. This bettered the one-game standard of 34 set by Stanford's Dick Norman against California in 1959.

With 97 completions in 135 attempts for 857 yards in four games, Bork is far ahead of the pace set by Don Klosterman of Loyola, Calif. 10 years ago when he established the all-time record of 159 completions in one season.

Bork's favorite receivers, halfback Gary Stearns and end Hugh Rohrschneider, have grabbed 30 and 29 passes, respectively, to top the small colleges on the NCAA Service Bureau's list in the receiving department.

Bork, however, is second in total offense to Jerry Linton, of Panhandle A&M. Linton, in four games, has piled up 902 yards. His rushing total of 710 tops the small college list, too.

Permanent Fixture

Because Powell, now only 5-7 and 162, is a permanent fixture in Penn State's backfield and one of the big reasons why the mighty Nittany Lions are ranked third in the nation.

Powell is the sparkplug of the team. Ask Angle, he'll tell you: "He's a good player, but he's even more valuable for the enthusiasm he generates in the rest of the guys."

Statistically, Powell leads Penn State in scoring, pass catching and interceptions.

He's 12th in the country in pass catching, with 13 for 147 yards in State's first three games.

In scoring, he's got 20 points on three touchdowns and two extra points. This Saturday he will be in the lineup against Army.

Like A Kid
Powell's enthusiasm is boundless. He jumps up and down like a kid when he scores a touchdown. He still touches the ball to the ground in the end zone like they used to do. Off the field he's the same. He majors in psychology, he's a member of the Penn State track team and he's one of the most popular students on campus.

Powell's real first name is Harold, but he asked to be called Junior when he first came to Penn State "because nobody in my hometown will know who Harold Powell is."

Pius X Royals Seek 2nd Win Against Belvidere

ROSETO — Coach Vince She-

manski's Pius X Royals, and Belvidere (N.J.) High School will be seeking their second win of the season tonight when they clash at Bangor Park. Game time is 8 p.m.

Both schools last week garnered their first victory of the campaign.

Pius X, despite three key losses in the backfield and line, stunned Copley by an overwhelming margin, 33-7. Belvidere, meanwhile, racked up a win over Delaware Valley while scoring for the first time this season.

Belvidere previously had been blanked in two previous engagements.

Two of Sheanski's backfield starters—Dean Dapkevich and Richard Fusakio—are doubtful starters for tonight's game. Both boys were seriously injured Sept. 23 in a game against Marian Catholic.

Out For More

John Raccato, hero of last week's Royals' win over Copley with three touchdowns to his credit will be looking for more while holding down his usual halfback slot, while being joined by Godino at quarterback, Detzi at the other half, and Hicks at fullback.

The Royals are favored in this contest, due mostly to their surprising power, which they displayed last week. It was the first time since Dapkevich and Fusakio have been out of the lineup that the Royals have been able to generate any kind of scoring attack.

The visiting County Seaters from Jersey will have Dewey and Benke at the ends, Bell and South at the tackles, Penzak and Hamlen at the guards and McDonald at center.

Ritterback will handle the quarterback chores; Fulmer and Wolfinger will be at the halves, and Hicks will carry out the fullback chores.

In the line for Pius X will be Sapone and Capozzolo at the ends, Ferrazzano and Manaseri at the tackle, Brusie and Falcone at the guards and Bartoli at center.

Powell Is No 'Junior' On Gridiron

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — They laughed when little Junior Powell wanted to play football for Penn State.

"He'll get killed playing in our league," head coach Rip Engle joshed at the time.

Lion scout Sever Toretto agreed: "He's just too small."

But Powell's high school coach, Alex Utema of Lewistown, finally persuaded them to give the 150-pounder a chance. Now they're glad they did.

Cross White Line Is Pitt Formula

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Scoring against West Virginia's unscored-on football team is as simple as telling the losing coach on Monday how the game should have been played Saturday.

Just ask John Micholosen, whose Pitt team has the chore of trying to become the first in four games to score against the unbeaten Mountaineers.

How does Pitt plan to end the trend?

Cross White Line

"By crossing the last white line," Micholosen said Thursday. The coach might have been having a little joke, but he takes the West Virginia streak seriously.

"I think it's very valid, absolutely," he said, discounting some criticism that the Mountaineers haven't played anyone of real strength.

"Vanderbilt beat them so easy last year, and this year West Virginia turned around and shut them out," Micholosen observed.

"They undoubtedly are a very good defensive ball club. No matter who you play, if you don't let them score, you're good."

Three Shutouts

In their first three games, the Gene Corum-coached Mounties whipped Vanderbilt 26-0, Virginia Tech 14-0 and Boston University 7-0.

"We'll follow our regular game plan which calls for an equal amount of rushing and passing," Micholosen said of the offense, which has featured much more running than passing in Pitt's two victories.

"But once the game gets going, one probably will be featured over the other. One always is, depending on the game."

Score Through Air

The Panthers (2-1) have gained 750 yards rushing and 323 yards passing while throwing only 26 passes in three games. However, against California last Saturday they scored three of their four touchdowns through the air.

West Virginia, on the other hand, has allowed 40 yards on the ground and 147 in the air.

Micholosen doesn't look for much of a passing attack from Pitt's old neighborhood rivals, which could be a break for Pitt's weak pass defense.

"Their quarterback, Jerry Yost, is not real outstanding as a passer," he explained. "But he's adequate and has been coming through pretty well."

Holton No. 1
"We'll have to watch the fullback, Glenn Holton. He looked real good against us last year and has looked very good running this year. He's their No. 1 guy."

The game is the 5th in the series. Pitt has won 33, lost 14 and tied one.

If the Panthers fail for the second straight year to get number 40, Micholosen may find it more difficult on Monday than his players did Saturday.

ESSC Is 20th In Grid Poll

EAST Stroudsburg State College's football Warriors are listed among the top 20 of the small college division in the country by the latest United Press International poll.

Coach Jack Gregory's club, undefeated in three starts this season, is tied for 20th position with East Central Oklahoma.

The only other grid team listed in the poll is Waynesburg, located near Pittsburgh which is listed 18th.

FRIDAY NIGHT
STROUD UNION HIGH over Bangor High—This is a battle of the beatens. However, the Mountaineers showed last week against Pen Argyl that they can score. In the Slaters last two contests, the opposition has tallied 86 points, while limiting Bangor to nothing. On this alone we have to go with Jerry Stulgaitis and his charges to rack up their first victory of the season.

PIUS X HIGH over Belvidere (N.J.) High—The Royals tasted victory for the first time last Saturday. It was a nice appetizer for Vince Sheanski's eleven. Look for them to continue their winning ways.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON

EAST STROUDSBURG STATE COLLEGE over Cheyney State—No matter how you look at it, Coach Jack Gregory has a problem even though the opposition is hardly the best. The Warriors face the task of holding the score down against Cheyney and losing some ground in the criticized Saylor Rating in the Pennsylvania State College Conference. If they happen to score at will, Gregory is open to criticism from the downtown quarterbacks for "pouring it on" the dorms of the loop. No matter how it comes out ESSC will have its fourth consecutive triumph.

PEN ARGYL over Jim Thorpe—The Green Knights got their scare last week. You can bet Coach Elwood Petchel will have a club with a different attitude on the field against the Olympians. This will probably be another of those tussles with Bobby Engler and Gary Heard upping their already high points output.

SATURDAY NIGHT
EAST STROUDSBURG HIGH over Parkland—The Trojans have come a long way this season after hapless campaigns in the past. But they face the not enviable task of meeting a fighting mad Cavalier eleven which is still smarting from their one-point loss to Lehigh last Saturday. This is a Lehigh-Northampton League game and Eastburg would like nothing better than to take an unmarred loop mark against Wilson a week from Saturday.

OTHER WEEKEND GAMES
WILLIAM ALLEN HIGH over Phillipsburg (NJ) High—Perry Scott has his best ball club in five years. This is one of the Garnet's poorest in that span.

JOHN HARRIS HIGH over Allentown Dieruff—Too much strength held by the state capital eleven.

EASTERN HIGH of WASHINGTON, D.C. over Easton High—This is not the Rovers' year on the gridiron.

NORTHAMPTON HIGH over Stratton—One Lehigh Valley League team is going to snap the Konkrete Kids' skein this season. But it won't be Stratton.

EMMAUS HIGH over Catasauqua—This is strictly an enee, meenie, miney, mo catch a Rough Rider by the toe game.

LEIGHTON HIGH over Whitehall—Should be an easy No. 5 triumph for the unbeaten Indians.

WILSON BOROUGH HIGH over Palmerton—The Warriors of suburban Easton go out of Lehigh-Northampton League

Expect Lehigh, Bucknell To Stage Passing Battle

BETHLEHEM — The football teams from Lehigh and Bucknell are expected to stage a real passing duel here Saturday when the Engineers host the Bisons in a Middle Atlantic Conference game at 1:30 p.m.
Lehigh's aerial attack is directed by senior quarterback Walt King (York), who is having his finest season. King has completed 26 of 45 passes for 262 yards and a touchdown, and he "called a near-perfect game in Saturday's win over Gettysburg," according to Coach Mike Cooley.
Bucknell has gained roughly twice as much yardage in the air as on the ground in winning two of its first three, thanks to the accurate arm of senior Ron Giordano. Giordano has completed 41 of 67 passes for 514 yards and five touchdowns, and is the Middle Atlantic Conference leader.
Giordano's total includes a 20-for-35 effort in last week's one-point loss to Massachusetts, which earned him selection as the all-East small college quarterback of the week. Lehigh also had a player on the weekly team, sophomore end Joe Walton (Johnstown), and Walton will start against the Bisons.
Cooley Happy
Cooley expressed pleasure in the Lehigh offense, "which finally got going in the second half against Gettysburg. We also blocked and tackled better than we have been doing, and had some fine 'second effort' on defense."
Cooley called Bucknell "a team with a fine passing attack. Ron Giordano has been very accurate this year, and has two fine targets to throw to in ends Dick Tyrrell and Rene Clements." He indicated that Lehigh's chief problem on Saturday might be the defense against the short pass, in which defensive halfback Charlie "Jake" LaMotta (Pittsburgh) was a key man. LaMotta has been recuperating from a pre-season knee operation.
Saturday's game will be a vital one for the Engineers, who are seeking to even their record at 2-2, and for the Bisons, who are contenders for the Middle Atlantic Conference title with a 2-0 record in the league. In the series between the schools, which began in 1888, Bucknell has won 12 games and Lehigh 11, and there have been two ties.

OSU Faculty Approve Of Rose Bowl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's faculty council has approved a policy of participation in the Rose Bowl football games, reversing its stand of last season.
The council voted 36-20 to approve a recommendation of the university athletic council made Sept. 26.
The participation is approved, the recommendation said, so long as a formal contract is in effect between the Big Ten and the Athletic Association of Western Universities. Such a contract was resumed this year after a lapse.
Last year, the faculty council turned down the Rose Bowl recommendation, touching off loud protests from OSU students and fans of the Buckeye team.
The Buckeyes won the Big Ten title last year but couldn't accept the Rose Bowl bid. This year they are the favorites to take the title again.

Tapers To Open Against Chicago

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Tapers of the American Basketball League will open their season Nov. 14 at Convention Hall against the Chicago Majors, according to general manager Ben Katuran.
Katuran said details of the club's operation would be disclosed at a press luncheon to be held here Oct. 17. He said the team's full schedule should be completed shortly.
The Tapers, who finished third in the ABL last year, will play a 72 game schedule in a league which includes Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Chicago, Long Beach, Calif., and Oakland, Calif., Katuran said.

Monroe County
Ray Pensyl was the key man for Chestnut Hill Inn as they split 2-2 with Gem Lunch. Ray had 199 and 562 and high for Gem's was Lou Lee with 206 and 53. Schimel's Store swept 4 points from Half Moon Tavern with Sam Strunk posting a 549 for the Store and Stan Konawalk high for the Tavern with 527. C. L. U. Club set league high triple at 265 as they defeated Larry Besencker's Diner 3-1. Harold Staples had 233 and 615 (league high triple) for the Club and Tom Carmella Jr. had 242 and 548 for the Diner.
LACROSSE, the official national game of Canada, was developed from an Indian game called "baggataway."

Liston Asks For Meeting

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Charles (Sonny) Liston has requested a meeting with the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, Commissioner Alfred M. Klein said Wednesday.
Klein said the request was made shortly after Liston won the title Sept. 25. No date has been set for the meeting.
Klein said discussions would cover Liston's plans both as a boxer and as a private citizen.
